

NOW HEAR THIS...

In May 2006, the folks at Daily Constitutional will curate an exhibition from the material submitted for the Winter & Spring 2006 issues, regardless of whether or not it has been printed, at ADA Gallery in Richmond, Virginia.

Work considered for the exhibition is not limited to one's text based work but will also include studio work.

In order to be considered please include images of studio work along with your submission materials. Thank you.
